A LIVELY DEBATE.

Caused by the Transfer of the Sherman-Davis Quarrel to the Senate.

An Interesting Battle of Words Between Northern and Southern Statesmen.

A Large Number of Bills Introduced in the House.

Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Among the petitions presented to Congress today, the one from Mrs. B. A. Sherman, widow of the late Senator Sherman, was referred to the Senate. The Sherman-Davis quarrel, which has been the subject of much discussion in the House, is now being debated in the Senate. The debate was lively and interesting, with many words being exchanged between the Northern and Southern Statesmen. The Sherman family is a prominent one in the North, and the Davis family is prominent in the South. The quarrel between them has been a long and bitter one, and it is now being brought before the Senate for settlement.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The House today introduced a large number of bills. Among them were bills for the relief of several soldiers and sailors, and for the establishment of a new military academy. The bills were introduced by several members of the House, and they were all referred to the appropriate committees. The House also held a session today, during which several bills were passed. The session was a busy one, and it ended at a late hour.

LOSING IN THE ICE FIELDS.

Alarmingly Intelligible Concerning the Fate of a Hudson Bay Company's Steamer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—A Montreal special to the Evening Post says: "The head office of the Hudson Bay Company in this city has received alarming intelligence concerning the safety of one of their finest vessels, the Prince of Wales, homeward bound, with a cargo of furs estimated at nearly half a million dollars. The Prince of Wales sailed during the first week in October from Moose Factory across James Bay, to Hudson's Straits. Here she encountered an impassable wall of ice, and the Captain gave orders to put the ship about and to make for the outer ice at Moose Factory, intending to winter there. After great difficulty (Hudson's Straits, twenty-five miles from Moose Factory), was reached.

When the Captain found it impossible to make further progress, the boat manned by the mate and four sailors were sent ashore to make arrangements for supplies and clothing for a long stay in the Arctic region. Soon after the men had been sent ashore, a severe snowstorm came on, and the boat was in danger of being cut in pieces by the ice. The men were forced to leave the boat and to make for the outer ice at Moose Factory, intending to winter there. After great difficulty (Hudson's Straits, twenty-five miles from Moose Factory), was reached.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Senators Miller, of California, and Sherman both made long speeches in the Senate yesterday afternoon on the Nicaraguan treaty. Senator Miller warmly endorsed the treaty, and Senator Sherman warmly opposed it. The debate was lively and interesting, with many words being exchanged between the two Senators. The Nicaraguan treaty has been the subject of much discussion in the Senate, and it is now being debated for a second time.

NEW MEN AT THE HELM.

Changes in the Executive Officers Made in Indiana, Ohio, Kansas and Missouri.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 13.—At two o'clock yesterday afternoon the members of the Legislature, headed by a band, proceeded to the Indiana State House, where ceremonies were held in connection with the inauguration of Governor Isaac P. Gray. The ceremonies were held in the grand hall of the State House, and they were attended by a large number of guests. Governor Gray was inaugurated at two o'clock, and he gave a short address to the Legislature. The address was well received, and it ended at a late hour.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13.—General J. S. Robinson yesterday presented his resignation to the Governor as member of Congress from the Ninth Congressional District, and at noon was sworn in and entered upon his duties as Secretary of State.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The Citizens' Law and Order League of the United States, organized to secure a better enforcement of the laws existing in the several States for the restriction of the liquor traffic, will hold its third annual meeting in the city of New York on the 22d and 23d of February, 1885. The 22d day of February falls upon Sunday, and the 23d day of February falls upon Monday. The League is a large and influential one, and it has many friends in the city of New York.

SHOT IN A SANCTUARY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—J. D. Houston and Robert Brewster went to the Muscovite office Monday, and upon entering Houston struck the editor, George Osmond, with a cane, upon which Osmond opened with his revolver and wounded Houston. The latter also began shooting, but his weapon failed to work. A woodman from the establishment then took Houston's part. Brewster was shot four times and mortally wounded, but Osmond and Houston escaped with slight injuries. The Muscovite had attacked Judge W. T. Houston, a brother of one of the combatants (J. D. Houston), who intended to chastise the editor. All the persons involved are well known.

THE REVIEW

JACK & NIZA, Proprietors.

Instead of dicker for a treaty with Spain concerning Cuba, buy the island outright.

It is said that some of our U. S. Senators oppose the ratification of the Nicaragua treaty because England and Germany are against it. The honorable gentlemen who are so sensitive had better resign.

Cannst makers do not appear to be making much progress with Mr. Cleveland's affairs. He will tackle the business himself in a few days, and the politicians may rest satisfied that dead men will not be appointed.

When the legislature gets down to law tinkering, it might tackle our divorce laws. The ease with which the marriage contract can be annulled in Illinois is not creditable to our professed enlightenment and civilization.

The local reporter of the Republican was evidently captivated by the animated statuary at the opera house on Monday night. This promiscuous puffing of shows without regard to character is getting to be a nuisance in journalism.

HAINES showed his hand yesterday at Springfield. It is not probable he will be allowed to play it. His position is untenable. The democrats could continue to demand the permanent organization of the house. A persistent demand for right will produce better results than any compromise.

The mayors of eighteen of the largest cities in Iowa report an increase in the number of saloons, and that no successful attempts are being made to enforce the provisions of the state prohibition law. What Iowa wants is a little less law and a little more observance of it. And in this particular Iowa is not alone by any means. The existing condition of things in the Hawkeye state furnishes another proof that prohibition does not prohibit.

SENATOR HOAR, who made an ass of himself in the U. S. Senate the other day by advertising Belys woodwork, may contemplate a law partnership with that somewhat odd disciple of Lycurgus, and while asking the right of petition riders, in asking the senate to count the vote cast for her, and record that of Indiana for her, he may be only paying the way for business in a professional way. He is too old to be suspected of any other motive in espousing her cause.

In discussing the pros and cons of the allegation that St. John offered to get a sore throat and abandon his campaign for the modest sum of $25,000, as alleged by a member of the national republican committee, and denied by Mr. St. John, the "Bloomington Bulletin" thinks there is conclusive argument that the prohibition candidate did not offer to sell out in the fact that he did not sell. It modestly inquires if the oldest inhabitant has any recollection of the republican party declining to buy anything to carry an election!

The February number of the North American Review will have an article from the pen of Henry War Beecher on the right of ministers of the gospel to take part in politics. The republican members of Plymouth church will have something from Mr. Beecher in the forthcoming article that will be harder for them to condone than was his "little intrigue" with Mrs. Tilton, or will miss our guess. One thing is certain; they will not raise his salary to $100,000 a year in consequence of his defense for deserting Jingo Jim and supporting Cleveland.

BEN BUTLER has brought suit against the Boston Herald for libel. If we remember correctly Ben brought a similar action against the Crockett Democrat some fifteen years ago, and after his passion cooled off withdrew it. There must be something the matter with Ben's character, if he has to invoke the aid of a judicial tribunal to patch it up. When we contemplate the vote cast for the itale-eyed statesman and hero at the late presidential election, we incline to the opinion that the Herald must have been wasting its ammunition on rather small game.

At last the colored voters of the country are getting tired of furnish republican majorities and their being systematically ignored by the party benefited by their votes. A club of colored administration democrats has been formed at Springfield, with Rev. C. S. Smith, of Bloomington, as their leader, and others will doubtless be formed in the principal cities of the country. It is proposed to hold a national convention at Indianapolis in a few weeks, when many colored men will say with Mr. Smith that they are tired of being "blasted as a red blanket in the face of political bulls."

The Nicaragua treaty has been reported back to the senate favorably, and there is not much doubt but a similar report will be made concerning the Spanish treaty. These are important measures. They probably cannot be intelligently discussed by those who do not fully understand the commercial relations already existing, but it is supposed that Senators at least can fully appreciate the results. The democrats should not be passive in the discussion or in action. These treaties are not their measure, but they are soon to come into power, and must assume responsibilities. If the treaties are not likely to be productive of good they should be prepared to show wherein this will be so, and to suggest something better. If nothing good and to our advantage can be secured by treaty, it may be well to consider the matter of purchase. Instead of paying tribute in future, why not assume the responsibilities of ownership and secure its advantages. The greatest measures in the nation's history were the purchase of Louisiana by Jefferson, and securing the southwest territories and California from Mexico by the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo. In both instances the democracy met with opposition. Dire evils were predicted, but the wisdom of the democratic statesmen of those times has been proven. The control of Cuba and the canal connecting the two great oceans would be but advancing our own nationalization the whole. An opportunity is afforded the democracy for inaugurating a policy in foreign affairs on the threshold of their taking control of national affairs, and it should be improved.

BY TELEGRAPH.

The Legislative Dead-Block.

SPRINGFIELD, January 13th.—Mr. Haines, temporary speaker, called the house to order at 2 o'clock p. m. Mr. Linegar moved that the house proceed to effect a permanent organization, when Haines, stated that he already occupied the speaker's chair, and refused to entertain the motion. After an extended and forcible speech by Mr. Linegar, he then moved that the house adjourn, and upon the chair refusing to entertain his motion, he put it to the house himself and declared it carried. Haines at once called the house to order again, but amid the confusion that followed a republican moved that the house adjourn until to-morrow, and the motion carried. There was intense excitement throughout the session, which has not yet abated. The democrats met in a caucus at 8 p. m., and outlined a policy for to-morrow. They are placed in the position by the revolutionary action of Mr. Haines that they cannot do anything but insist on proceeding to the permanent organization of the house, by the election of a speaker. The action of Haines to-day was such that he certainly cannot be supported by the democracy, in any event, and the republicans will not likely take him up even with the prospect of his vote for Logan for senator.

Farmers' Excursion to New Orleans.

The Illinois Central railroad will run a Farmers' excursion to New Orleans and the World's Exposition, leaving Decatur at 5:45 p. m. January 27, 1885. Fare for the round trip, $17.60. Return tickets good for forty days. To enable this party to visit the prize grounds of Louisiana, a special rate excursion will be run from New Orleans to Jennings, passing through the finest sugar and rice districts of the whole south, and giving the northwestern farmers a view of the south such as cannot be had in any other way. Coaches will run through to New Orleans without change, and we suggest, as a means of comfort and economy, that each person provide himself with a blanket, also a coffee pot and well filled lunch basket. Parties desiring sleeping car accommodations must apply to me not later than January 25th, and in every instance accompany the excursion with price of both. For full particulars apply to the undersigned at Manchester, Iowa. J. F. MARY, Gen. West Pass. Agt. j13d&w

Crystal Wedding.

The crystal wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Barnes was celebrated last evening at their home on West Prairie street. A large number of friends were present to commemorate the happy event and an evening of pleasure was had.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes entertained their guests in royal style, and at a seasonable hour a choice collation was served. Among the many handsome presents bestowed, were the following:

Dozen cut glass tumblers, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Hostetter; cut glass butter dish and silver basket, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Swearingen; fruit dish and pickle casket in silver holders, Mrs. W. D. Lewis, J. W. Phillips, E. W. Shively, C. T. Holt, H. F. Miller, C. M. Phillips, N. A. Hagerman, J. P. Eckles, J. Huddleston, J. Smith, J. P. Boyd, E. H. Shively; bouquet holder and perfume bottle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hall; cracked glass fruit dish in silver holder, J. C. Hostetter.

The Over Decorated Lamp.

Lamp shades grow daily - or perhaps we should say night - more ornate and densely decorated, until they are almost unrecognizable, frilled within an inch of their lives with silk, lace, and other costly materials. The most elaborate and costly of these lamps are the most useless. A visitor may yawn the night through at the most elaborate and costly of these lamps. A visitor may yawn the night through at the most elaborate and costly of these lamps. A visitor may yawn the night through at the most elaborate and costly of these lamps.

Quite A Turn-Turn.

No young lady is quite made who doesn't possess a tray fitted up with the paraphernalia for seeking her letters. She must have a tray of beaten copper, with a lamp such as the old poets wrote by, with a unique holder for matches and her wax, and a seal with a crest upon it. The newest thing in letter cases are of ornate leather, and the little cases are of ornate leather, and the little cases are of ornate leather, and the little cases are of ornate leather.

Potatoes Properly Cooked.

Potatoes should be cooked with their jackets on. They should not be peeled. The skin has, been purposely made of a corky nature to retain the juices and valuable principles of the vegetable, and should be carefully guarded from any injury by cutting or scraping. A chemical analysis shows that potatoes, contained afterward seventeen grains of carbonate of potash. This is a foolish waste.

Kansas City Journal. It is a distinctive mark of commonness, to buy things which cannot be afforded and to vainly attempt to dress up to a standard utterly inconsistent and absurd.

Do not approach your wife of personal defects, for she has sensibility you inflict a wound difficult to heal.

Peoria's new hotel is likely to prove an elephant on anybody's hands that attempts to run it. It seems to be in financial distress already. The Peoria Journal says: "It is said that the reason why the corner store in the National hotel is not rented is because it is a large trade must be a large feature, and the entire cigar privileges of the house have been rented by one of the stockholders. By the way, it is said that the mechanics' liens on the hotel are subject to the bonds. There are several interesting things about the institution."

Yesterday the grand jury returned indictments against Charles Esleridge and John Nichols for burglary and grand larceny, and burglary and petit larceny. Indictments were also returned against Peter Green and Thomas Hogan for petit larceny.

Esleridge and Nichols are the two worst fellows who went through a couple of houses and stores at Harriestown and also burglarized some place in this town, besides holding up a man and relieving him of a watch and some money. They were captured at Gibson City.

Frank See, a colored watchman at the Leland Hotel, in Springfield, while engaged in a friendly scuffle or wrestle with another colored employee, on Monday evening, slipped and fell, rupturing a blood vessel, which resulted in his death in about a half hour afterwards. Frank's home was in Taylorville, where he was well known, and generally liked, but he has been employed at the Leland most of the time for several years past. He was a steady, industrious, sober and pious colored man, and generally respected by all who knew him.

During the year 1884 Col. J. W. and O. C. Judy, the well-known stock auctioneers of Tallahassee, did the following remarkable business, which shows the interest that has been taken in stock and the profit resulting therefrom: They have sold 2,344 head of Shortborns for $509,350, average $217.35, or $17.35 higher than last year (this includes 200 head sold by Col. Mair and J. W. Judy together); also 118 head Herefords for $45,700, average $387.30, and 28 head of Polled Angus for $11,900, average $425; besides 40 head of Jersey $3,320, average $208, and a few Galloways and Holsteins.

To Be Tried for Insanity.

In the county court to-day, Amos downstein will be tried on the charge of insanity. Officer Bailey appeared yesterday and made the charge. Poor Amos' many friends will deeply regret the necessity of this step, but it is unavoidable, and in making the charge Officer Bailey manifestly performed a sad duty. On Monday evening the officers took him in charge and experienced great difficulty in lodging him in a place of safety. His peculiar actions of late have caused his friends to believe that his mind was diseased. Amos' failing is known to every one, but he had not during the past few weeks indulged in the vice that has seized upon him so firmly for years, for the reason that he has been in custody of the officers, and those who were around all right, but those who were trying to add him as best they knew how, have been deeply disappointed in the result. If he is really insane, it is to be hoped that he will soon recover his reason, and be his former self again.

The Lecture Course.

Hon. Wm. Parsons, the well known Irish platform lecturer filled his appointment, and delivered the third lecture of this winter's course at the opera house last night. He is a typical Irish student and gentleman in appearance. His topic was "Homer, the Story of the Golden Age." He briefly recited the leading features of the ancient story as told by the blind poet and showed how what was considered romance has been verified by the discoveries of Prof. Schlieman. It was a scholarly address, upon a scholarly subject, discussed in scholarly language by a scholar.
